

Aged Lady Dies Here

Mrs. Elizabeth Daybell Giles, 84, widow of the late Franklin M. Giles, died at 7:45 p. m. Tuesday, at the home of J. Fred Giles, a nephew whom she raised. She had been ill two years.

She was born January 24, 1856, at Derbyshire, England, daughter of Finiety and Mary Draper Daybell, converts to the L. D. S. Church. When she was nine the family came to Salt Lake City and then to Wasatch county. She lived in Charleston until December 22, 1873, when she married Mr. Giles in the Salt Lake endowment house. Mr. Giles died 28 years ago.

Mrs. Giles was a faithful, active member of the church. She was of a retiring, motherly nature and was loved by all. She is survived by a brother, Patriarch William Daybell, 82, and a sister Mrs. Sarah T. Giles, 90, both of Heber. Also by many nephews, nieces and friends who call her "Aunt Liz-zie".

Funeral services will be held on her 65th wedding day, Friday at 1:30 in the Heber 2nd ward chapel in charge of Bishop Wendell Duke. Interment will be in the Heber cemetery.

Friends may call at Olpin brothers mortuary Thursday and at the J. Fred Giles residence, First north and Second west Friday until time for the services.

FRANKLIN MOORE GILES

Franklin Moore Giles was born at Nottingham, England, September 10, 1851, son of Thomas H. Giles and Elizabeth Moore. He emigrated with his parents to America in 1858.

He married Elizabeth Daybell, daughter of Finity Daybell and Mary Draper. She was born January 24, 1856, in Derbyshire, England, and came to Utah with her parents in 1864. Some time later they settled in Heber, Wasatch County.

Brother Giles was ordained a High Priest and set apart as second counselor to Bishop Henry Clegg, a position he held until 1894. He died August 8, 1912, as a faithful Latter-day Saint.

They were never blessed with children, although they loved them very much. A nephew, J. Fred Giles (son of George T. Giles and Sarah Daybell), lived with them most of his life until he was married. She died at his home, December 19, 1939, at the age of 84 years.
